What should we study?

Teams receive ALL study materials, web links and topic objectives from the Northeastern Illinois Envirothon committee. As tests are created from these documents only, it is extremely important that teams use the materials provided to prepare for the competition. Study resources are mailed the first week of January. In addition to the resources provided, workshops are held in the months prior to the competition. Workshops are free to all participating team members and their advisors. Participants are responsible for transportation & bringing a sack lunch. Typically, two workshops are held. One workshop will cover Wildlife & Forestry the other workshop will cover Aquatics & Soils. These workshops are given by professionals in each respective field and provide hands on learning opportunities.

Is the competition held indoors?

This is an OUTDOOR event that takes place rain or shine or snow. Please make sure that your team is aware of current weather forecasts and dresses accordingly for the day. If the committee concludes that weather conditions are unsafe, or that the site has become inaccessible due to weather conditions the event may be moved inside. However, you will not be notified prior to arrival and need to ensure that everyone is prepared to compete outside.

What is the registration fee?

Although there is no fee to enter the competition a deposit check is required with your initial registration. When the team signs in on competition day the check is returned. If a team fails to withdraw their registration prior to the deadline and / or does not show up on competition day they forfeit their deposit. Likewise, if a team is disqualified from the competition they forfeit their deposit. Forfeited deposit checks are placed into the NE IL Envirothon operating funds to offset operating expenses. Teams that show up and follow the rules compete for free!

*Update: FFA ONLY Teams- Please see “Rule, Regulations & Registration Guidelines” for information regarding registration fees.

Is transportation provided?

Unfortunately we are unable to provide transportation. Transportation to and from workshops and competitions is the responsibility of the team members and their advisor.

Will lunch be provided during the competition?

Yes! On competition day participants are welcome to breakfast snacks, morning beverages, boxed lunches, soda pop and water. We'll make every effort to accommodate participants with special dietary requirements, if notified in advance.

Will lunch be provided during workshops?

Sorry, we are unable to provide lunches for workshop participants. Teams are STRONGLY encouraged to bring a sack lunch when attending workshops.

What should we bring? What shouldn't we bring to the competition?

The seasons can change by the day around here! Watch current forecasts and bring the appropriate accessories. For example, if it's a cloudy 70 degree day with scattered showers, do NOT show up in shorts, flip flops and a sweatshirt. You will be very uncomfortable! Teams will be given one clipboard and a pencil for use during the competition. All materials and display items needed for oral presentations will be held by staff until your presentation time. If additional materials are needed to complete a lab or test, they will be provided at the testing station. Camcorders, tape recorders, digital cameras, cell phones, pagers, or any other audio, visual equipment are not allowed by the participants during the competition. Team photographs will be taken for you during registration and throughout the day. If you must take your own photos during lunch, leave your camera with your advisor. They will see you during the break. NO photos should be taken of test stations and / or labs, of course. Stay clear of testing stations during lunch to avoid any unfortunate misunderstandings and subsequent disqualifications. Backpacks and purses are also prohibited during competition. Again, if you really need to have them you must leave them in the car or give them to your advisor. Notes and materials will not be allowed at any time during the competition. Any team member & / or advisor found to have materials or notes at the competition will immediately disqualify their team from participation and forfeit their team's deposit. If you're reviewing on the ride to competition, be safe; leave it ALL in the car. No tobacco, intoxicants or drugs of any kind are allowed at the site of the competition. Students are representatives of their respective schools and will follow their schools' policies while participating in the competition.
